REMARKABLE MAN CHOSEN FOR CHAIRMAN OF BOARD OF FISHERIES

Dr. John W. Bowdoin, of Accomac, Giant in Mind and Body.

A STAUNCH PARTY LEADER

He Has Led Democrats of His Section to Many a Glorious Victory-Man of Experience Also, Having Served in Similar Capacity.

Dr. John W. Bowdoin, whom Governor Montague recently appointed chairman of the Board of Fisheries, is one of the best known men in Tidewater Virginia. He is in the prime of life, and is a giant in physical proportions, standing more than six feet six inches, and weighing about two hundred and fifty pounds. He comes from one of the oldest and most directly directly directly about two hundred and fifty pounds. He comes from one of the distance of the Eastern Shore of Virginia. One branch of the family settled in New England in early colonnal times, and one of its members founded Bowdoin College, of which Linogicellow and Hawthorne were gradules. Bowdoin Square in Boston was also named for the family. The Bowdoins of Baltimore, who are members of the Eastern Shore branch of the family, are among the wealthlest and most prominent people of that city.

LOVER OF SFORTS.

The new chairman of the Board of Fisheries was born in Northampton county forty-two years ago, being the only son of the late Dr. John R. Bowdoin, who for many years was one of the most prominent physicians on the Eastern Shore of Virginia. Dr Bowdoin was educated at Richmond College, the University of Virginia, the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore and the I naveselty of New York. He has always been passionately fond of outof the Board of Fisheries, is one of the versity of Virginia, the College of Physicians and Surgeons of Baltimore and the Investity of New York. He has always been passionately fond of outnoor sports and athletic games, and for many years after he had reached the ige of manhood he praticipated in nearly ill the great base-ball games in his section. He is also a great huntsman, and nome ten years ago organized the Eastern Shore Game Associantion, which has done so much to protect the game of that section, and of which he has been president from its organization.

been president from its organization. HARD FIGHTING DEMOCRAT. HARD FIGHTING DEMOCRAT.
Though enjoying an extensive medical practice he has devoted much of his time und energies to the cause of the Democratic party. Soon after the disastrous campaign of 1886, in which the Democratic candidate for Congress in the First District was overwhelmingly defeated, and the hitherto great Democratic majority of Account reduced to watic majority of Accomac reduced to watic majority of Accomac reduced to barely three hundred, Dr. Bowdoin was ynanimously elected chairman of the party in that county, and at the next succeeding election under his vigorous jeadership the old time majority was restored. From time to time he has been re-elected to the position, and he has hever allowed the majority in his county to fall below the high-water mark. He have of the flergest political flepters in planting oysters is, that potatoes grow on land above the water and oysters grow on land under the water. The farmer does not refuse to lease his lands to persons coming from other States, and ls one of the flercest political fighters in the State, and as a presiding officer ex-hibits much of the vigor that charactertzed Thomas B. Reed while Speaker of the House of Representatives. His methods of dealing with fillibustering tactics are said to surpass even those of the famous ex-Speaker.

MAN OF ENPERIENCE.

MAN OF ENPERIENCE.

In 1894 Dr. Bowdoin was appointed by Sovernor O'Ferrall Commis. oner of Fisheries for the State of Virginia, and though his powers were very limited, he did much to put the fish and oyster industry on a sound and prefitable basis.

It was during his administration that the Baylor survey of the oyster grounds was made, and in 1895 he submitted a report on the State fisheries to the Gov that attracted wide attention and won high commendation from those most conversant with such matters. In this report he called attention to the rapid disappearance of some of our most vardisappearance of some of our most car-uable fish, and urged the Legislature to prevent the further destruction of the fish by prohibiting the setting of fykes and pound nets during the spawning sea-son. In speaking on this subject the report says:

"Our custom and policy are far behind the times, and instead of protecting and developing our fish and game, we act like the physicians and destroy them." He also is a student at the Episcopal Female Seminary at Chatham. barbarians and destroy them." He also urged that a specific tax of not less than $16 be put upon each pound net or seline, and that drastic measures be adopted to enforce the law.

THE OYSTER INDUSTRY. Touching the oyster industry, which was then in a declining condition, he had, among other things, the following to say:
"Oystermen believe the oyster grounds to be their exclusive property, and Icel that there should be no more restriction placed upon the taking of oysters than upon the catching of fish, that come and upon the catening of ish, that come and go with the seasons. They have bitter by, and until lately successfully religions at legislation in

(Special Dispatch to The Times.)
BLACKSTONE, VA., May 10.—The citizens, in mass meeting last night, renominated Mr. P. Stith for Mayor and the following Councilmen: Dr. L. C. Tucker, Messrs. W. I. Jones, B. E. Cobb, G. L. Bradshaw, J. H. Munford, J. D. Crawley and P. R. Epes. Of this number only two, Messrs, Munford and Epes, are members of the present Council.

It is more than probable that another ticket will be put up for Mayor and for some members of the Council.

A question that has divided the people on former occasions as to the election of a Council was that of the granting of liquor licenses. By a recent act of the Legislature the town charter was amend-ed so as to give the voters a direct vote on this question at each election, so that whether a man is "wet" or "dry" has rething to do with his serving in the Council. It is believed that this will cause more harmony in the town government. Master Roberts Epes, the third son of Rev. Dr. Theo. P. Epes, is ill with fever. His condition is reported as being criti-in the case.

Young Dunnavant was charged with assaulting and robbing Mr. W. S. Blackburn. The case was at first made sensational by the testimony of Ernest Farmer, who, after being fined for contempt of court by the Mayor, made what he called a confession of the crime committed. Farmer said that he had seen Dunnavant astride of Blackburn, and that when Dunnavant arose he had a roll that when Dunnavant arose he had a roll of money in his hands. Dunnavant then sald, according to his testimony, "Come on and go to Richmond," speaking to him (Farmer).

Before the jury the evidence of Farmer caried little weight, there being a number of witnesses who testified that he was either crazy or drunk most of the time. The Commonwealth rested its time. The Commonwealth rested its case day before yesterday and the defense began. The court instructed the jury yesterday morning about 10 o'clock. Argument in the case consumed the greater part of the day. Mr. Page opened the case with a splendid argument for the Commonwealth. He made a brilliant speech to the jury. Messrs. Smith and Clopton presented their case thoroughly, consuming about two hours and a half. The case was given to the jury last night between 6 and 7 o'clock. He said, of course, if representatives of this Government were to be sent to a coronation they ought not to pay their own expenses It was pointed out by Mr. Lodge that the power of the President to send a spe-cial agent was established thoroughly by practice. It was clear that he had such authority. PROTESTED AGAINST IT.

Mr. Money of Mississippi, protested against the sending of a special em-bassy to the coronation of any King or potentate, not approving of having representative of United States cool his heels in the corridors of any monarch. He thought it entirely unnecessary to appoint an extraordinary ambassador in this instance when the United States aiady had an ambassador accredited to

Mr. Hoar said he sympathized with the statement that the United States should not pay a tribute to any nation which that nation did not pay to us.

Mr. Bulley explained that he was opposed to the assumption by the President that he had authority to appoint ambassadors to any country without the consent of the Senate.

Mr. Lodge gave notice that on Tuesday next he would move that the Senator

In the House.

(By Associated Press.)
WASHINGTON, May 10.—The House to-day transacted some minor business, including the passage of a resolution to print 5,600 copies of "Jefferson's Bible," and then laid aside public business to av tribute to the memories of the late resentative Rufus K. Polk, of Pentsylvania, and the late Senator J. H. Kyle, of South Dakota. Among those who de-livered eulogies on the life of Mr. Polk-were Messrs. Elchardson, Alabama; Bellamy, North Carolina, and Clayton, Alabama.
